Grade Crossing Investigation

Resolution Will Be Introduced In Legislature Tonight To Extend Life of Committee Until March 15—Figures Gathered By Committee and P. S. C.

The following statement is issued by Senator John Knight, majority leader of the Senate.

"Owing to the problems encountered by the committee created to investigate grade crossing eliminations, it has been decided to extend the life of that committee until March 15. A resolution to that effect will be introduced tonight in the legislature. The committee otherwise would go out of business on March 1.

"The grade crossing committee, of which Senator Charles J. Hewitt is chairman, and Assemblyman Eberle Hutchinson, vice chairman, has been working in cooperation with the Public Service Commission to gather necessary data in connection with this legislation.

"Owing to the amount of work confronting the committee in collecting statistics bearing upon the physical, as well as the economic phases of grade crossing elimination, the time originally granted the committee has not been sufficient.

"There appears to be, according to available figures, 8,206 grade crossings in the state, 5,614 of which are listed as being unprotected. The remaining 2,591 are protected by either gates, flagmen, alarms or signals. These latter crossings are dangerous in the usually accepted definition of that term."

"The records of the Public Service Commission indicate quite clearly that the majority of accidents occur at crossings at which travelers on the highways may obtain a view of at least 1,000 feet, from the crossing. It appears that those crossings, at a sharp skew angle, are frequently the ones at which accidents are most numerous. A study of this condition leads to a conclusion that this is caused by a failure on the part of the traveler in most instances adequately to observe in that direction which requires that he look, namely back over his shoulder. Such crossings, on account of their apparent openness, are frequently not protected by automatic devices.

"The so-called blind crossings are not the ones at which accidents frequently occur. It is true that many of these are now protected by gates, flagmen or warning devices, but even those at which there is no such protection seem to be involved in few if any accidents. The very fact that short views are obtainable put travelers on their guard, so that they exercise care in passing over the railroad.

"Experience has shown that gates and flagmen are often disregarded. This is especially true of gates. A recent investigation of the commission with respect to the failure of a company properly to maintain certain gates, revealed that they had been destroyed four times within six months by motor vehicles colliding with them while they were down performing the function for which they were designed. It appears that there are at least 4,000 grade crossings which ought to be eliminated. If an average cost of $100,000 is assumed, the total will be $400,000,000 of which the state's share under the present statute would be between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000.

"History of grade crossing removals shows that the first eliminations were started in 1897 and have been continued more or less spasmodically since that year. Proceeding under the grade crossing law are frequently tedious and often seriously delayed by circumstances beyond the control of the commission. An illustration of the extent of the delay which may result from a disagreement between the parties concerned in the elimination of crossings in Syracuse. This controversy dates back to 1898 and it is still unresolved.

"During the 28 years in which the grade crossing law has been in effect, the automobile has made its appearance. Its advent has added entirely new problems. Elimination plans which in 1898 were adequate are now totally inadequate and impossible. This applies to crossing methods as well as to crossing construction. Another fact to be taken into consideration is the cost of grade crossing removal. In 1898 the total cost of grade crossing elimination might be placed at $20,000. A similar project today would cost at least $75,000. Estimates furnished by experts indicate that the average total cost for grade crossing removal will be about $100,000 for each crossing.

"The policy which, in our opinion, would be the best to pursue, would be the elimination first of all of the most dangerous crossings. There are crossings in this state which annually take heavy tolls of life and property. These crossings should be the first to go.

"Owing to the various factors which enter into grade crossing removal, such as labor, material and traffic conditions, it is estimated that at least 40 years will pass before grade crossings can be completely eliminated.

Dairy League Cancellations

In February Less Than Cancellations a Year Ago—Many New Applications for Contracts Received by Association.

The Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., announces a total of 1,851 cancellations received during the recent withdrawal period, February 12 to 28, inclusive. This figure represents the cancellation notices received from active members and is considerably less than the cancellations a year ago. The approximate total number of inactive contracts cancelled, that is dairymen who have discontinued farming or dairymen, is reported as 1,744. In addition to these figures, the association for the first time in its history sent cancellation notices to 674 members in accordance with provisions in the league contract by which either contracting party may exercise the right to cancel during the cancellation period.

These cancellations take effect April 1 next. Prior to this time any dairyman may ask the association to reconsider his notice of withdrawal.

During the month of February, according to the league report, 290 new contracts were received at the central office, nearly all of which were sent in by producers delivering to the fluid and cream markets. In addition to this number 167 new contracts were received and accepted during the first five days in March. Officials of the organization point out that the best possible indication of the favorable situation in which the league now finds itself in regard to its markets, is that new contracts received since February 1 total practically one-fourth of the total number of cancellations received during the annual two weeks withdrawal period.

MIZPAH CLASS SUPPER ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY

On Monday evening, March 9, the Mizpah Class of the Clinton Avenue Sunday School enjoyed a delightful banquet in Epworth Hall. At 6:00 o'clock forty-five of the fifty-five members and two guests sat down to a beautifully decorated table, the color scheme being yellow and white. Daffodils and yellow tulips were artistically used. The favors were small yellow paper baskets filled with mints. Painty place cards told the ladies their places and after grace was said by Mrs. R. A. Greenwell, a delicious four course dinner was served by the daughters of Mizpah Mothers.

The president of the class, Mrs. K. E. Wright, expressed deep regret at the absence of the class teacher, Mrs. H. A. Miner, who is confined to her home by illness, and a most appropriate note of regret and an original poem written by Mrs. Miner were read by Mrs. Wright.

The banquet was followed by the regular monthly business meeting of the class, where plans were made for the St. Patrick's Day supper, which will be served in Epworth Hall Tuesday evening, March 17.

Much credit is due Mrs. George Phillips and her efficient committee, who had charge of the banquet.

Chiffon Gown Is Among Favorites

Fluffy Material Liked for Evening Wear—Dainty Embroideries.

Just by way of encouraging home industry in the most practical and intimate sense, the fashionable shops of the larger type are displaying an enormous assortment of ready-to-make frocks, tunics and blouses. Their variety is astonishing. Among the models of gowns for evening wear, says a fashion writer in the New York Times, are the "robes," as they are labeled, of net, marquisette or chiffon, on which are embroidered or machine-etched all-over patterns done in beads of one sort or another.

When this conveniently invented frock was introduced several seasons ago it presented intricacies and problems for the seamstress, for it was put together in an altogether casual manner, and was sometimes impossible to work out in a modish scheme of costumes. But the latest beaded robes and their variants are a real blessing, and the demand for them keeps designers and manufacturers on their toes.

Given an artistically beaded frock in pearls, crystals, jet, paillettes, steel or silver, a modiste who is possessed of any degree of originality is able to shape it into a dinner gown, a ball gown or an informal dance frock. It is usually a matter of the neck outline.

Flesh Chiffon Frock Trimmed With Tiny Pink Flowers.

That will be round and shallow, bateau or slightly square for informal occasions. A slash of the sheers, lowering the décolletage and omitting the sleeves altogether, adapts this same "robe" into the most formal evening dress. And since the straight or "chemise" design is the most fashionable in these gowns, the only difference in results depends upon the scheme of decoration.

The tunics in these beaded affairs are all the rage. There are many styles, varying from the simple outlined models to those that are heavy with metal, glass or jetted embroidery. Besides the popular liking for the beaded, half-made tunic, there is a perfect craze at the moment for this separate tunic in many forms. There is the Russian model, a strictly simple blouse with the waistline at hip length, the material in any one of many novelty weaves, mostly silk or cotton. The vivid Russian colors on a background of cream, tan, brown, scarlet or green add something of enduring picture value.

In crepe de chine the Parisian articles are designing some beautiful tunics, the needlework being done in beads or floss, and sometimes in a combination of the two.

Dainty Bracelets That Are Really Practical

One sort of bracelet that may not well be counted a jeweled ornament is a chic little fad of the moment. It consists of a strap of flat elastic covered with a fancy ribbon gathered to stretch with the rubber. Sewn on this is a flower of silk, a rose, gardenia, or other round, sizeable blossom. The flower conceals with surprising ingenuity a thin case which holds a tiny powder compact and puff. Another fashioned on the same idea ornaments a little silk coin purse that closes with a metal clasp. Still another holds under the silk petals a small bag filled with sachet powder so that every movement of the hand scents the air. These are very popular now, when perfume is so much in vogue and when so much time and thought are given to "individual" perfume. The novelty wristband that holds a dainty handkerchief is still much worn, because it is really practical.

Negligee Styles

Beaded chiffon velvet is a favorite with the modern woman when choosing her "very best" negligee. These robes are simply trimmed, if at all, the very lightest touch of stretch being especially liked. There are, of course, negligees of tulle and other soft silks in the loveliest shades, and styles of trimmings are many in the Chinese embroidery and silk. Lace also in the most brilliant colors are liked by the ultra-fashionable woman.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MR. RACCOON

"Now you know," said Mr. Raccoon, "that parents of children are much more particular about their children's names than adult parents are."

"My children are lovely little dears, but we don't worry about what we shall call them. They may have names or they may not."

"We're not fussy."

"But parents sit up for the longest time and say:

"Dear me and shall I call him Junior after his father or shall I call him Charles?"

"Or they say:

"Dear me, shall we call the little rosbud (meaning the baby, you know) Rose or shall we call her Hortense?"

"We don't fuss like that."

"You are particular that your children wash their food before they eat it, though," said Billie Brownie.

"Yes," said Mr. Raccoon, "we're fussy about that, and we're always anxious that the children eat plenty of fresh vegetables."

"But parents are the same way there. Haven't you told me, Billie Brownie, of parents urging their children to eat vegetables when they wanted everything else but vegetables?"

"I think I have told you that. But I've also told you that parents are fussy about the hours their children go to bed and you're not fussy at all."

"You Are Lucky," Agreed Billie Brownie.

"We like the dears to sit up late at night so they'll be sleepy in the daytime when we are," said Mr. Raccoon.

"We wouldn't want them to wake up at dawn when it is just about dawn when we go to bed."

"But we let them eat almost anything so long as their food is washed."

"Parents are more particular about children. Yes, they are more particular in almost every way."

"But what I cannot understand is why they fuss so much about names. If they think of names, well and good, if they don't why bother to worry their heads?"

"They enjoy thinking about what they will call their children," Billie Brownie said. "They don't worry so much about names. They enjoy it."

"Ah, well," said Mr. Raccoon, "I say to myself so often:

"Mr. Raccoon, I say, for I always treat myself politely. Mr. Raccoon, you have the ways of a raccoon and not those of a human."

"It is a lucky thing for you that you don't have to go to business and work in a bank or a shop or a garage."

"It's a lucky thing for you that you don't have to wear a stiff collar and a necktie and a suit of clothes and heavy boots."

"It's a lucky thing for you that your children don't ask you for money to spend on sodas and candy and pictures and books."

"What would you do when they asked you? You'd never have a cent and you'd always, instead of just sometimes, have to refuse."

"What would you do if you had to get up at an early hour each morning to go to work?"

"What would you do if you had to make a speech at a meeting?"

"What would you do if you had to talk over with your son whether he wanted to become a doctor or a lawyer or an engineer?"

"What would you do if you had to share each morning or at least every other morning?"

"What would you do if you had to live in a house instead of a tree?"

"Yes, Billie Brownie, there are the questions I ask myself."

"And when I answer myself, I say: 'Mr. Raccoon, you're very lucky to be a raccoon. Very, very lucky.'"

"And you are lucky," agreed Billie Brownie. "I think so too."

GAS BUGGIES—It's Enough To Irritate Any Man.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(By 1233, Western Newspaper Union.)

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men, the trust of pure women and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has made the world better than he found it, whether by a rescued soul or an improved poppy; who has always appreciated earth's beauties and never failed to express it; whose life is an inspiration, whose death is a benediction.

FOR DINNER

Those who like chillies will enjoy one made from this recipe:

Chilli Con Carne.—Take one-half pound of fresh lean pork with some fat, one and one-half pounds of round steak, all put through the meat grinder. Brown three good-sized sliced onions, add the meat, a dried chilli pepper, two quarts of tomato, salt, pepper, and two or three tablespoons of chili powder. Cook very slowly for three hours, then add two cans of kidney beans and let the whole cook another half-hour. Serve in bowls.

Dinner Choccos.—Put through a meat grinder one-half cupful of stuffed olives; add one cream cheese, and when well blended add two cupfuls of grated American cheese. Season well with salt, roll in a long roll and decorate with a few thin sliced stuffed olives. Pass on a cheese plate with knife.

Horseshoe Sauce.—Blanch and chop two dozen Jordan almonds very fine. Press the vinegar from four tablespoons of grated horseradish, season with salt and cayenne and add to the almonds with two tablespoons of thick sweet cream. Mix well and serve with boiled fish.

When using grapefruit for various fruit salads or cocktails, save some of the juice, thicken with gelatin and serve cut into cubes with rich cream cheese or with cottage cheese and crackers with coffee for dessert.

Those who enjoy curries will like the following:

Curry of Rabbit.—Brown rabbit, cut into serving pieces, season well, add two medium-sized onions chopped and two teaspoonfuls of curry powder. Cook 15 minutes; add a very little boiling water, cover and cook, slowly until the rabbit is tender. Serve with hot seasoned rice.

Protein in Wheat

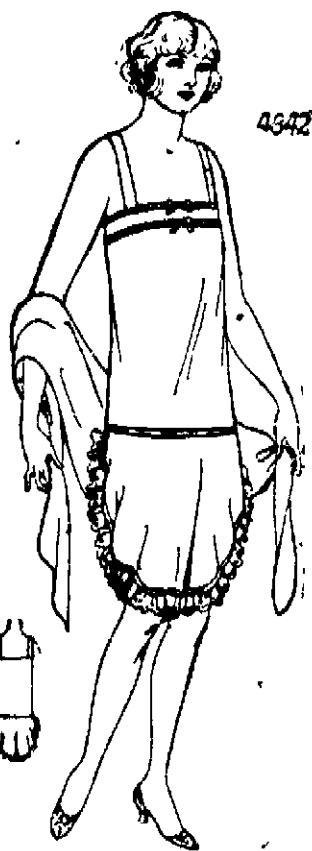

Crude protein content has become an important factor in establishing the market value of certain classes of wheat. Premiums of several cents a bushel have been paid for each additional per cent of crude protein contained in wheat above an agreed percentage. Ash content also is an important factor in marketing flour.

SOME TENDENCIES IN PARIS STYLES.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

Naturally, the jumper has gained prestige since the smart world has focused its eyes upon the two-piece frock. The jumper has a natural sports suggestion. Chanel's now famous crepe skirt and balbriggan shirt has been converted into so many combinations and ways, that one has already forgotten the days when this model was not an essential.

It is customary, of course, to eliminate the waistline in this model, but frocks which bear a strong resemblance to Premet's famous garcon gown are being worn with attractive belts and dog-collar persuasion or with other belts which have something in themselves to commend them.

The waistline continues to be any or nowhere, the French couture not even being of one mind about its position. There was, though, a rather general inclination to mold the natural figure, and to place the waistline where nature intended it to be. Premet raising the line often at the front and omitting it altogether at the back, while other creators choose different methods of diverting attention from it.

Vionnet employs tucking in treating the waistline, but then tucking is so frequently employed that one is in danger of omitting to mention anything so obvious.

In assembling a wardrobe for country wear or for travel, consider well the decorative possibilities as well as the utilitarian one of the knitted coat which looks as much like a carpet as anything unless it be a hand-woven rug. Even Callot's label is found in some coats of this genre, and while the majority are easily colored, some are in neutral camelhair tones, or in dark and light gray and white.

Teacher Blushed

It was a lesson on punctuation, and Jimmy was almost asleep at his desk. "Now," said the teacher, "if I say, 'I must leave, as I have an engagement.' By the way, what is the time?" I place a 'dash' after 'engagement,' because the sentence is broken off abruptly." At that moment she caught sight of Jimmy.

"Now then, Jimmy, you are not listening. What was I saying?" she asked him.

"Please, Miss Smith," said Jimmy, with a start. "You were telling us you said 'dash' because your engagement was broken off abruptly!"

Magic Chipso brightens washday gloom

IS it possible actually to have a pleasant washday?

Yes, it really is! Thousands of women all over America have learned this from Chipso.

Says a woman in Canton, Ohio: "I never knew how easy it was to wash clothes until I used Chipso."

"I do the housework while Chipso does the washing," says another user, whose whole-hearted enthusiasm accounts for her good-natured exaggeration.

1 to 3 hours saved.

Busy women, who used to be worn out after a washday with old-fashioned cake soap, have discovered that Chipso not only makes clothes whiter and protects colors, but actually saves from one to three hours of work every washday.

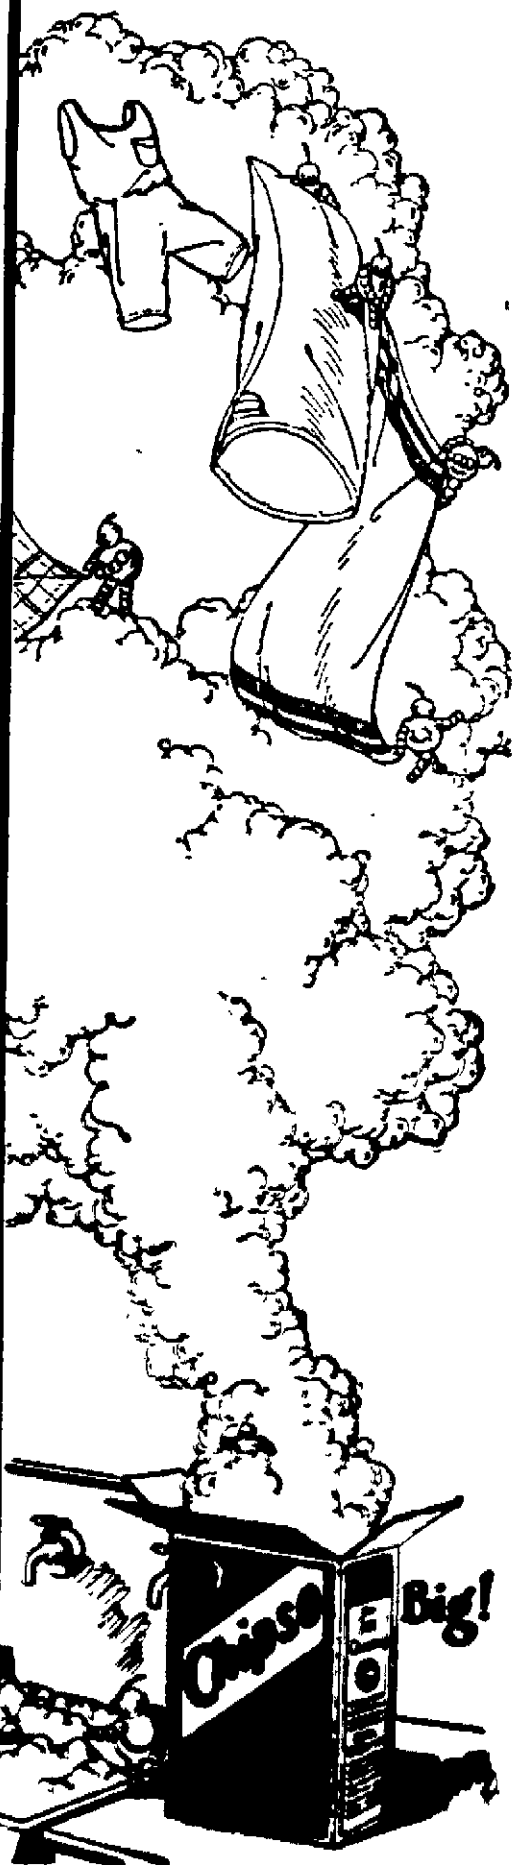

Think what this means to you! No more chipping and melting of cake soap, no more hard rubbing, much less tedious, unhealthful boiling.

Look for the blue and orange packages at your grocer's—two big sizes—try one today.

LUCREZIA MARINELLI

Of Venice was born in 1571. Her talents were surprisingly versatile. She was learned in church history, understood and practiced the art of sculpture, was skilled in music and besides left many literary productions. Lives of several saints, a treatise entitled "The excellence of Women and the Defects of Men," an epic poem, several epistles to the Duchess d'Este, and many other pieces of poetry, both sacred and profane. She died in 1632.

FIRST INCOME TAX LAW.

The first income tax law imposed in England was provided for in an act of parliament passed 413 years ago today, March 11, 1512, to enable the king to enter on a war with France.

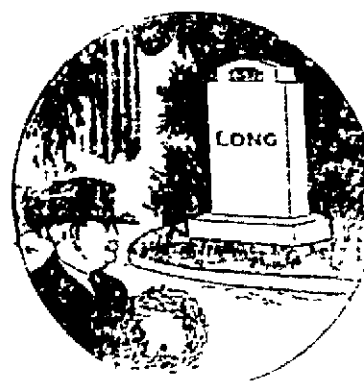

In 1798 Mr. Pitt proposed and carried, after some opposition, a tax on incomes as an aid for the prosecution of the war with France.

Graduated duties were imposed on all incomes of 200 pounds and over. In 1806 the income tax was increased to ten per cent on all incomes above £250, and lower rates on smaller incomes. This law was repealed in 1815, but in 1842 Sir Robert Peel's income tax bill was passed, which was doubled in the Crimean War.

The United States passed an income tax in 1862, to carry on the Civil War, as on the same manner that Congress passed the income tax law to finance the war with Germany.

THE "BLIZZARD"

A falling barometer, followed by rain and snow 27 years ago today, marked the beginning of the terrible storm which has since been known as "the blizzard." The entire North Atlantic coast from Baltimore to New Brunswick felt the effects of the storm, but its greatest fury was upon New York, N. J., Penn. and Conn. There have been worse blizzards in the western parts of the United States and Canada, but nothing to compare with it has ever been known in the eastern portion of the continent. It was believed in 1898 that it related to a cyclone which originated

LET US GIVE THAT OLD CAR THE APPEARANCE OF A NEW ONE.
Workmanship the Best. Prices Most Moderate.

By a heavy rain, on March 11, 1898, the famous statesman, on the morning of the 12th the real blizzard day, a heavy snow was falling, with a sixty-mile wind. At noon the snow ceased, but the rain blew it into an impenetrable drift, and continued to do so during the day. Railroads were blocked, and several days elapsed before travel could be resumed and on some roads travel was blocked for a week.

New York and Brooklyn felt the worst of the storm. Street car traffic was stopped, factories had to close, and business was suspended.

New papers were printed, but could not be circulated and many people died in the snow. It was believed in 1898 that it related to a cyclone which originated in the Gulf of Mexico and moved northward.

Color in the Household

Color has a decided effect on the appearance of a room. Light shades of color will have the same effect as a room with light and dark tints and hangings will make the room seem darker than it is. BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Ad.)

Go Slow, Advice Of Van Buren

He recounts More or Less Ancient History of Facts and Fancies That Folks Got Hysterical Over and Urges Consideration of Trolley Situation.

Editor of The Freeman:

Kingstonians, the same as the people of most places, are like children, tickled to death with a new toy. Along comes some chap with a panacea for all existing ills and they at once embrace it, not counting the cost or the results. The county and the town went wild over building railroads, and, in spite of the warnings of the late Senator Hardenbergh and other far-seeing men, bonded themselves to build the W. V. and U. & D., which bonds we paid in interest greater than the principal, the last being paid not many years ago. The roads would have been built some time without plunging the people in debt. I opposed the grant of a right of way to the West Shore R. R. Co., unless it tunneled under Broadway, and was damned from Ponckhockie to Hikingville. Ever since we have been trying to eliminate the Broadway crossing, and we can only do it at great cost. I opposed the building of the Colonial and was "the tool of S. D." but it has proved to be an elephant. "That ate all night, and ate all day, and do what we could, we couldn't keep that miserable beast in bay."

Along comes some company with a new manufacturing concern, condensed eggs, cigar factories, mills, and what not, and our chamber of commerce rake the town with a fine toothed comb for contributions, not discounting the future and not believing that a solvent, paying concern if not attracted to Kingston by its natural advantages, it wouldn't come at all. At the same time if a couple of our own young men wanted to raise a little cash to start some new enterprise our Chamber of Commerce wouldn't move a peg, and the directors of our banks would refuse to loan a dollar on their paper. Just at present many of us have gone daffy over the word puzzle of what to do with the application of the trolley company to establish a bus line, and to abandon the present line in part. I wish the use of your columns to present some thoughts on this subject. To start with, although the bus lines running out in the country seem so convenient and profitable, and although other places report that they have been successful, still, they are more or less an experiment. Therefore before we discard the trolley, even in part, let's be certain that we are going to better conditions. The various applications of the trolley company were based upon the assertion that its road did not pay. Even if that were true I can see no good reason why the company should be treated any different from an individual. If the business of the "baker, greaser or candle-stick maker," doesn't pay we don't ask contributions for him, or request him to boost prices, we let him shut up shop. I am told the company would abandon its road which would be a public calamity. It won't do it. You can bet your bottom dollar on that. Now I very strongly suspect that the present application is made for the same reason, because its road, at least a portion of it, does not pay. Why should we get it out of the hole unless we can better ourselves by so doing. Will the abandonment of a part of its line and the establishment of bus lines do it. I, and no one else knows. Go slow.

If my recollection be correct, and I think it is, the trolley company are bound to pave and keep in repair the space between the rails and a few feet on either side. We are, and have a right to be, very proud of our streets. If the tracks are to be taken up on a part of Washington avenue and other streets, who is going to restore the streets to good condition and keep them so? If not bound by contract with the city to remove the snow from the tracks, the trolley company has to do so to run its cars. It now costs the taxpayers quite a large sum to remove the snow from the streets. If bus lines established its removal from the street through which the buses run will be an absolute necessity, which will more than double the present cost. Who is going to pay for it. Are the buses to run on ten minute time. Who is going to fix, and what is the fare to be? By whom and how are applications for an increased rate going to be prevented from being granted.

If I read the newspapers correctly the present application is not made by the present trolley company but by a brand new company. I will be told that under its charter the trolley company cannot establish bus lines. I doubt that as a legal proposition, but in my humble opinion the "City Home Rule" law discovered by Mayor Block, gives the city full power to contract with the company to operate bus lines, or any other thing relative to the acquisition, care, management and use of its streets and property. Who knows, to a certainty the financial responsibility of the new company, or whether each responsibility in the future will be such as to compel it to fulfill its obligations or respond in damages for its failure to do so.

If my recollection be correct, at the time the town went crazy over the Colonial trolley, the common council, very foolishly granted the company a franchise to build a road in a whole lot of streets. I assume these grants have never been revoked. Now is a good time to do it, for some other company may show up and desire to build trolley roads in those streets and we will bite our heads off that we can't let them do it.

I wish to call the attention of our corporation council to a question of great importance, which, indirectly at least, bears upon the pending application. It is the general opinion among lawyers, some of them better termed in the law than I am, that the Public Service Commission has almost unlimited power to fix the relations between the public and railroad corporations. Fix the rate of fare, hours of running, etc. I never did and do not now believe it. Up to a few years ago the court of appeals had not directly decided the question. If it has done so since I am not aware of it. Some years after the organization of the first electric light company it acquired by purchase, all the stock of the gas company, except one or two shares owned by a woman, living. I think, in Connecticut, and a block owned by the estate of Thomas Cornell. Under a statute, giving such power, the company began a proceeding to compel the Cornell estate to sell its stock to it at a price to be fixed by appraisal, the gas and electric light company to be consolidated. The firm of Linson and Van Buren instituted an action in the supreme court to prevent this and asked a preliminary injunction pending the suit. I argued the motion for the injunction at special, general term, and in the court of appeals. The two first courts granted the injunction. The court of appeals held that the question was too important to be decided on appeal from an order, that it should wait until appeal from a final judgment. Shortly after this decision the Cornell estate received what it asked for its stock and the matter dropped. Without going into great detail my argument was, in substance, as follows:

In the famous Dartmouth College case the supreme court of the United States decided that the charter granted by the crown to the college was a contract, protected by the clause in the constitution of the United States, prohibiting a state from passing any law which impaired the obligation of a contract, and that a law of New Hampshire that altered the charter of the college without the consent of its trustees, was, therefore, unconstitutional. One of the judges, I think Story, referring to the fact that such holding would put a corporation above and beyond the control of all law, suggested that this could be prevented by the state, by inserting in the act granting the charter a provision reserving the right to the state to amend, alter or repeal the same. This suggestion has been adopted by every state by general act, and it is under it that the legislature acts.

Now in mind that the supreme court decided that the charter of the college was a contract between the crown, the state, and the corporation, protected by the above clause in the constitution. But the courts have many times decided that a charter of incorporation is, as matter of fact, three contracts. One between the state and the corporation, and one between the corporation and those persons, and municipalities who make contracts with it or are directly affected by the acts of the corporation. My contention was, and, as above stated, I was sustained by the special and general term, and the question was not decided by the court of appeals, that the state could, under its reserve power so to do, alter or repeal a charter by it, that is the contract between it and the corporation, but it could not alter or repeal the contract between the corporation and its stockholders, or the contract between the corporation and an individual, or a municipality without the consent of both parties.

I and numerous attorneys are anxious that this important question be, if it has not been done, decided by the Supreme Court of the United States. If my contention be correct the Public Service Commission has no power to fix the rate of fare of the trolley company, to allow it to abandon its road or any part of it, or to do many things that the corporations ask it to do, without the consent of the city. Every well conducted corporation will contest a claim, however meritorious it may be, and however important it may be to the corporation, if it presents a question as yet undecided by the courts, for the reason that it can well afford to pay the cost of the litigation in order that it may know what to do in future cases. So, if our trolley company gets too gay, and gets, against the protest of the city, what it wants from the Public Service Commission, the city can well afford the expense of a litigation, in order to find out where it is at.

One should go slow in finding fault with existing evils unless he has some good remedy to offer. Therefore I suggest the following:

First. Let our Chamber of Commerce fully investigate this matter, ascertain all the facts, make suggestions, a dozen would be worth more than one train. Spend some money if necessary to obtain information. It will be more valuable work than chasing around for contributions for some railroad company.

Second. Let each Kingstonian obtain all the information he can, be what most of our people ought to be but don't do, attend the meetings of the Common Council, of the Board of Public Works, of the committee having the matter in charge, express your opinions, make suggestions, good, bad, or indifferent. Be an active citizen of the best city in the world, and give some of your time, now passed in the streets, to public affairs, which advice I will try to take myself.

Third. To our mayor, common council, its committees, and boards. Get at the facts. As far as it can possibly be done, foresee the future. Above all things go slow, very slow. Don't be carried off your feet by public clamor, or the walls or glorious promises of the trolley people or anyone else. Go slow.

Fourth. Why not let the trolley company run buses in connection with its present roads, at least for a time, and see how it works out. It won't bust the company. If it does it is well you know it.

Fifth. Let some individual or some company of our own people run bus lines and see how they pan out.

Sixth. Let the city run buses. I am opposed to that, but try it. It won't make our taxes very much higher, unless our Board of Supervisors, in their infinite wisdom, and tender mercy for our tremendously wealthy property owners, use it to jack up our taxes. If they do we'll stagger along somehow, we have done so for many years.

Seventh. Instead of spending money on "zoning" in order to make every lot a park, and every house a beautiful dwelling with garage; with establishing radio stations which already have made wives neglect their kitchens, and have driven many persons crazy in trying to solve crossword puzzles; with establishing public baths for those who couldn't hire to take a bath once a year, or public toilets for those who won't use them; or increasing our public parks, when the whole city is a park; or making contributions to reformers and uplift societies who don't reform or uplift themselves, and the rest decline to be either reformed or uplifted, better, much better, spend it in solving the present question and save what you can to lower expenses and reduce taxes. We have, in part at least, a magnificent heritage behind us. Let us not only preserve it but increase its splendor. Let us emulate the deeds of those who, in large measure, made us what we are, and eschew the errors and wrongs they committed. I write all this without a particle of animosity against the trolley company, its members or officers. Perhaps they have done as well as they could. Whatever assistance can be given the company without injury to ourselves or those who are to come after us, should be done. One thing I, and every Kingstonian knows, the automobile and conductors of its roads are the kindest, good natured, attentive, obliging and polite set of fellows in the whole world.

Thanking you for the valuable space you have given me in The Freeman, I remain, Yours truly,

MICHAEL H. VAN BUREN.

Save on Your Gas and See the Scenery!

By WILLIAM E. KNOX

President American Bankers Association.

A LONG, long time ago, a very great teacher said, "Man shall not live by bread alone." That is true. A man who lives by bread alone and simply feeds his body will be nothing more than an animal. There is more than bread that goes to the making of a life. There are the things of the mind and the spirit, and we are all of us making a great mistake if we measure success in this world by material things. Material things are all right and ought to be emphasized to some extent, but they should not occupy more than their proper place in the scheme of things. Over and above and beyond these are the things of the intellect, and over and above these are the things of the spirit, the finer things of life. If, in reaching out for material prosperity, we forget these things, we may get the material property, but we will not get true joy and true happiness out of life. I want to commend to every one that, in addition to striving for the good things of this life which are good in their way, to remember the other things also.

William E. Knox

I promise you if you do that, it will not make any difference whether you get great rewards or not; it will not make any difference whether you arrive at high position or not. You will have instead a great inward satisfaction, and you will feel that you have lived a pretty good life and had a good time while you were doing it.

Have your good time as you go along. Don't be like the automobilists that go whirling over the country at sixty miles an hour and arrive at their destinations at the end of the day's run not having seen the beauties of the country they went through; having seen nothing of the birds or the flowers, of the streams and the trees and the hills, but having just totaled up so many miles on such an expenditure of gas. Save on your gas and enjoy the scenery as you go along through life. Just put that into operation—save on your gas and see more of the scenery!

Lightning is one of the causes of the "static" that warbles radio interference. Although probably not the principal cause, as was formerly supposed, says Nature Magazine. While lightning flashes across clicking noise is the reverse, the heavier and more trouble some rumbling sounds known as "crackles" are believed to be due to electrical disturbances in the upper atmosphere far above the level of the thunderstorm.

The committee's report, which was issued last week, charged that the Government had sold supplies to the British at prices far above the market value.

Grade Crossing Plan Imperative

Governor's Grade Crossings Proposal Will Be Rejected—Small Communities Could Not Bear Burden Under Proposed Plan.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, March 11—Governor Smith's proposal for a $200,000,000 bond issue for the removal of all grade crossings will be rejected by the Legislature because the Republican leaders, following an investigation last night, would be "inoperative."

The legislative committee which has been investigating the grade crossing problem for the last month is expected to submit its report to the Legislature within a few days. It will recommend rejection of the governor's plan. It was learned on high authority today.

In rejecting the governor's proposal, which the Republican Legislature of 1924 adopted, the present G. O. P. leaders have decided to make an immediate appropriation of $500,000 for grade crossing elimination during the next year.

Under the governor's plan the railroads would have paid half the elimination costs, the state 25 per cent and the locality the remaining 25 per cent.

There are many small communities in the state which could not bear their burden of the cost under the governor's proposal," said Assemblyman Hutchinson, a member of the committee which has been investigating grade crossings.

Republican leaders, pointing to the fact that there are three and four grade crossings in some of the smaller communities declared that if the village or town should be forced to pay 25 per cent of the cost of elimination, in many instances the place would be bankrupt.

When the resolution creating the committee to make a survey of the grade crossing problem was passed in the Senate and Assembly, the Democratic leaders charged its real purpose was to delay action at the present session on the governor's proposal. Had the governor's plan been adopted again this year it could have been submitted to the voters at the election this fall.

STUDENTS GET RECORD IN STATE POULTRY COURSES.

The students in the short course in poultry at the State Institute of Applied Agriculture as part of their practical work are running incubators and brooders. They recently took off their first hatch. It totaled 83.6 per cent of all eggs set, counting only the really vigorous chicks, or about 90 per cent of the fertile eggs set. The poorest hatch was 75.6 per cent of all eggs set, and the best was 85 per cent of all eggs.

Most of these students have never used an incubator before. Careful practical training, however, has enabled them to hatch and brood chicks with a fair chance of success without spending long years in costly failures on the farm while learning.

Sons of Veterans Seek Information About Graves of Veterans.

To the Editor of The Freeman.

Sir:

Tappen Camp No. 1, Sons of Veterans, will again this year continue their efforts to mark every "Civil War" veteran's grave in Ulster county, and as far as their finances will permit will mark all unmarked graves. Any friend or relatives, who know of an unmarked veteran's grave, who will send name, company and regiment and location of such deceased veteran grave to Joy S. Rosa, 8 Barnum avenue, will confer a favor on Tappen Camp. Some graves which were listed last year were not marked, as we ran out of markers. Such graves will be the first attended to this year.

To the long list of jewel robberies that have followed the custom of New York women of wearing thousands of dollars worth of gems to the supper clubs and cabarets has been added the sensational robbery of Mrs. Fay Perkins, who, with her escort, Milton Abbott, was held up in her home and relieved of $40,000 in gems. Both Mrs. Perkins and Abbott were savagely beaten. Dorothy King and Louise Lawson, robbed in the same way, were killed by their assailants. Mrs. Irene Schoellkopf, wife of a Buffalo manufacturer, was robbed of $350,000 worth of gems in a like fashion, while Miss Edith Bode, wealthy modiste, lost a fortune in jewels in a similar holdup.

Won't Cut Pay For T. B. Cattle

Assembly Passed Bill Appropriating $4,000,000 and Refuses to Slice It in Half at Behest of Democrats—Bonus Appropriation Unchanged.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, N. Y., March 11.—Republican leaders in the assembly today blocked a move by Assemblyman L. C. Demarest, Democratic leader of the lower house, to have three bills, calling for a reduction in appropriations, considered immediately.

"Why should these bills be considered now?" asked Assemblyman Adler, Republican leader.

"Because they will point the way to your party how the first step should be taken to bring about a reduction in the state income tax," Bloch replied.

Two of the bills were introduced by Bloch, and one by Assemblyman Cuvillier, New York Democrat. They carry out suggestions made by Governor Smith as to how the appropriations could be reduced so a cut in the income tax could be made.

One Bloch bill would appropriate $2,000,000 to pay claims against the state for the slaughter of tubercular cattle. The assembly yesterday passed a bill appropriating $4,000,000. The governor claims $2,000,000 is enough to appropriate this year.

The bill sponsored by Cuvillier would appropriate $2,500,000 for bonuses for relatives of World War veterans instead of $3,500,000, as proposed by the Republicans.

The assembly then recessed for two hours so the Republican members could go into conference to discuss all controversial measures.

Following the conference, the lower house was expected to pass the annual appropriation bill totalling approximately $124,000,000.

Oregon Man for Attorney General

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, March 11.—President Coolidge has under consideration the appointment of Judge Wallace McCannum of Oregon, to the attorney-generalship, it was reported in administration quarters here this afternoon, following the Senate's rejection of Charles D. Warren.

Judge McCannum will be remembered as the Oregon delegate at the 1924 convention in Chicago who placed Governor Coolidge in nomination for the vice-presidency.

He has long been a friend of Mr. Coolidge. Judge McCannum is a native of Pennsylvania, having been admitted to the bar at Lancaster, but for the last 35 years has lived in Portland, where he became an assistant justice of the Oregon supreme court. He is 58 years old.

30,000 Garment Workers Strike

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, March 11.—Thirty thousand members of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union went on strike today for higher wages from the jobbers.

An agreement was recently signed raising the pay from $28 a week to $34. The contractors were to pay the increase but were to receive more for their product from the jobbers.

Workers and contractors allege the jobbers refuse to pay the additional amount.

New School for Defectives.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, N. Y., March 11.—The assembly today passed the Hutchinson bill appropriating $80,000 for a site for a new school for mental defectives near New York city.

France Faithful To Obligations

By Telegram to The Freeman. Paris, March 11.—"France still adheres to the Geneva protocol and will remain faithful to her obligations," Premier Herriot told international news service today before meeting with his cabinet.

"Nevertheless," the premier continued, "France will consider carefully all suggestions for a coordinating decision of all nations regarding the protocol. We have sent a telegram to M. Briand at Geneva with these points for presentation before the council on Thursday."

Babe Ruth's Big Earnings Spent

By Telegram to The Freeman. St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11.—Babe Ruth, who for three years has been the highest paid player in the history of baseball—receiving $52,000 a season, has comparatively nothing left today outside of his country home in Sudbury, Mass., he declared in a statement here today.

He admitted, however, that the Yankee owners are holding out one-third of his salary each year for his "penny day."

Ruth's financial standing was disclosed in a statement as a result of a suit brought in New York by Harry Lichtenstein, to whom a claim was assigned by Edward J. Calahan for an alleged racing debt incurred by Ruth last summer.

Former Business Man Suicides.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Schenectady, N. Y., March 11.—Simon P. McClachlin, 76, once a prominent business man of this city, fired a bullet through his brain today. His body was found by his aged wife in the bath room of their home. He had been in poor health.

Romance Grew in White House

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, March 11.—A White House romance that budded and bloomed under the eyes of President Coolidge will culminate here tomorrow in the marriage of Irwin Geisser, personal stenographer to the president, and Miss Doris Ruth Salter, who is a White House stenographer.

The bride-to-be, just 20, is a native of Auburn, N. Y. Geisser, 27, comes from Lawrence, Mass. They met in the White House. The president and Mrs. Coolidge may attend the ceremony. Mr. Coolidge has given the happy couple a vacation.

GOVERNOR PRAISES SARATOGA SPRINGS

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, N. Y., March 11.—Governor Smith today sent to the Legislature a report of a commission he appointed last year to make a study of how the state should develop and operate the springs at Saratoga.

"It is conceded on all sides that at Saratoga Springs we have the nucleus of the greatest health resort in this country, if not in the world," the governor wrote the lawmakers. "It awaits development."

Uncomplimentary. The county inspector was paying his monthly visit to the village school. He examined the children in reading and general knowledge, as was his custom, and was very pleased with the answers he received. After the last question he rose to his feet and looking slowly around on the upturned faces, remarked genially: "I wish I was a little boy at school again." He allowed a few moments for this to sink in and then added: "Do you know why I wish that?" For a moment or two there was silence, and then a childish voice from the back of the room was heard in say: "Cos you're forget all you ever knowed."—Atlantic Journal.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, March 11.—Wall street developments today centered around a number of the prominent railroad properties.

Early rumors that the bankers of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad will permit the road to go into receivership led to another deluge of selling orders for the stocks and bonds of that road and prices tumbled to new low records. With the common stock down to 9 1/2, the preferred at 17 1/2 and the 4 per cent bonds of the company at 57, receivership for the road was clearly indicated.

Western Pacific, on which the executive committee recommended payment of $5 in cash and 16 1/2 per cent in stock was the most active of the railroad shares. The common stock jumped 8 points to 47 1/2 and the preferred was up 3 at 96 1/2.

Activity in Rock Island and St. Louis Southwestern followed the announcement of Charles Hayden, chairman of the Rock Island board, that Rock Island interests had acquired control of the Cotton Belt Line. Rock Island sold up to 51 and Southwestern gained about 2 points. Oil stocks were in good demand at slightly higher prices, but there was no sustained movement in stocks in this group and prices rarely reached the level of yesterday's high prices.

The industrial market leaders recovered from the slump in which they were placed by Tuesday's heavy selling, but buying demand was small and transactions light.

Another heavy drop in grain prices was a damper on the stock market as also was the weakness in cotton, which lost about 24 points. Call money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent and declined to 4 per cent later in the day.
